THE INTELLIGENCER.

WHEELING, JUNE 18, 1898.

Flag of the free heart's hope and home!
By angel hands to valor given;
Thy stars have lit the welkin dome,
And thy hues have been in Heaven.
Forever float that standard true, Where Freedom's foe the foe falls free.

With Freedom's soil beneath our feet, And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us, —Joseph Rodman Drake.

By order of the committee,
W. J. W. COWDEN, Secretary.

War is on in earnest.

For the present attention of the whole world which is centered on the war situation is divided between the two widely separated fields of activity, where important news is developing daily. With the news of the landing of the American army on the coast of Cuba may come the definite news of the fall of Manila. These developments of the war almost simultaneously on opposite sides of the globe will not only increase the interest in all America, but in the countries of Europe, where the history that is being made is watched with an interest second only to that manifested by ourselves, and, in some quarters, with much concern.

Reports that the insurgent forces are closing in on Manila will doubtless be followed with the news that the city has already fallen into their hands, and there will be anxiety to know if the passions of the rebel forces have been restrained, or if Admiral Dewey has been able to command the situation sufficiently to maintain order until the American assistance, now enroute, arrives.
Reports of the surrender of Spanish forces at various points to the insurgents show how vigorously and effectively they are pushing the campaign with the advantage afforded them by the hopeless condition of the Spaniards, growing out of the achievements of the American war fleet. In the meantime, there is every evidence that Spain has practically given up all hope of saving the Philippines—far more valuable to her than Cuba, and it may be reckoned that overtures for peace cannot be long delayed.

Hourly and daily hereafter, until peace comes, important news will be received from the seat of war in Cuba. It is not to be supposed that our army, in conjunction with the Cuban forces, will remain long inactive after the landing is effected. Perhaps even before we have heard from Manila we may learn of the fall of Santiago, and if Admiral Sampson's campaign, as it has been figured out by those who have been closely observing operations, is carried out, the capture of the city will be the most important part of Cuba is concerned.

The Intelligence's War Correspondent, Major Romeyn, U. S. A., retired, whose interesting special letters to the Intelligencer from Tampa and Key West have been published each Saturday, gives us his last letter from the Florida coast this week. On Tuesday he sailed for Cuba on the Olivette, with other newspaper correspondents accompanying the invading army, which has now probably arrived at its destination.
His future letters will be directed from the seat of war and will be of great interest on that account.

Major Romeyn will be with the American troops throughout the campaign, and we may expect some graphic descriptions from him. His position on the retired list of the army gives him advantages which other press correspondents do not possess, while his military experience and knowledge will enable him to discuss intelligently events with which he will be in close touch. The readers of the Intelligencer, we feel sure, will appreciate whatever comes from his pen from the stirring scenes that are to be enacted from now on in Cuba.

War Loan Subscriptions.

According to the financial papers, the world has not witnessed such an illustration of the financial strength of a country as has been demonstrated within the past few days in the United States. Since the bond call was issued Monday evening for $200,000,000, three times that sum has been embraced by financial institutions, that offer to take all the loan not subscribed for by the public. But better than all, almost the entire first installment of the loan is likely to be taken by the people in summertime. From twenty dollars upward. One authority states that it is certain that a very large proportion of the whole loan will be sold in lots not exceeding $500.

A New York dispatch states that the first demand at the sub-treasury there has been kept up constantly, and that when the institution closes at 3 o'clock in the afternoon there are waiting orders still in line. In one day 547 individual subscriptions, aggregating $242,000 were received. In Boston and other large cities similar rushes of subscribers have been noted. Banks stand ready to take any part of the loan not taken by the public.

This successful raising of a big loan in so short a time is regarded as remarkable, considering that we are in the midst of war with a foreign country, at an expense of over a million dollars a day, and that these 3 per cent bonds are already quoted at a premium. The Philadelphia Inquirer contrasts this fact with the significant one that Spanish 4 per cents are selling for but one-third of their face value, and that nowhere in Europe can that government place another loan for war expenses.

Throughout the country the subscriptions to the new bonds are coming in small lots, and the reason for this confidence shown by the people at such a time is plain and encouraging for the future. The significance of it is that the people are satisfied with the prospect of the war made thus far. It is all the more significant because the confidence is demonstrated in the face of the inconsiderate criticisms that are being made by the mendacious crumbler.
The intelligence of the people has not been deceived by the chronic critics, and it is not blinded to the fact that every point of advantage is held by the United States and that what has been accomplished in a comparatively short time since the declaration of war has been more than thoughtful people dared to hope in the beginning.

The Philippines are practically in our possession; the naval strength of Spain in Asiatic waters has been destroyed by an American fleet, and another Spanish fleet in the Atlantic is at the mercy of the forces of the United States, a captive. An army of nearly 200,000 men has been raised, and its equipment for active warfare is being vigorously pushed, while a large proportion of it is available. Formidable forces have been dispatched already to the scene of activity to take possession of what the war fleet has paved the way for. Within a brief time sufficient troops will be in the Philippines and the Spanish West Indian possessions to drive Spanish control from them all. Spanish fortifications have been wrecked or demolished, and some of them taken, while Spain, bankrupt and powerless before certain loss of her colonial possessions and a threatened bloody revolution at home, has not won and cannot win a single advantage.
All this has been accomplished with so small a loss of American life that, so far as this feature is concerned, the war has had no terrors for American homes.

Is it any wonder that when the United States government calls upon its citizens for a popular loan by the sale of low interest bonds, there is confidence enough among the common people to subscribe for it without a moment's hesitation, and that the great financial institutions are willing to subscribe three times over the amount that the government desires?

No greater testimonial of the confidence in a government, in time of a war with a foreign country, could be shown than this. It should induce pessimists for a long time and teach the critics that their efforts to discredit the administration have not shaken confidence not only in the outcome, but in the integrity of the government.

Aid by Cuban Insurgents.

Now that authentic reports are being received concerning the work of the Cuban insurgents in reinforcing the United States marines at Guantanamo there is a reversal of opinion as to their ability to execute their part of the programme of the military operations in southeastern Cuba. They have already shown that they will prove valuable aids to the United States forces through their great familiarity with the country and their thorough understanding of the Spanish method of fighting. The guerrilla warfare that has been so far waged against the marines by the Spanish troops in the vicinity of Guantanamo has accomplished little, thanks to the experience with which the Cubans meet them on that line, and the bravery of our own boys in blue.

The Cuban forces in the portion of the island which is to be the scene of the aggressive campaign to be inaugurated by the United States troops are commanded by men who have already been tested. They are courageous men and have even won from the Spanish commanders the complimentary admission that they have shown more than ordinary generalship. It seems that at the very start of the campaign the Americans, thought to number 27,000 men, will have to add them fully 15,000 insurgents, making a combined force which will make "trouble" for the Spanish troops.
It goes without saying that the operations against the enemy will be of the most aggressive and formidable character, and good reports may be looked for which will point to an early climax to the situation, so far as this very important part of Cuba is concerned.

The Hero of the Merrimac.

Just Who is Lieutenant Hobson, of Whom We Hear so Much?

The world rings to-day with praise of Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac. He is a Spanish prisoner, but he is a hero in the eyes of his countrymen. He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of the sea. He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of the sea. He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of the sea.
He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of the sea. He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of the sea. He is a man of the sea, and he is a man of
of the sea, and he is a man of the sea.
of the sea, and he is a man of the sea.
of the sea, and he is a man of the sea.
of the sea, and he is a man of the sea.
